From: Helen MarksTo: Walter ReedDate: April 2Subject: Trip itinerary

Hi Walter,

Thank you for the itinerary update for your trip this weekend. I do have a few questions regarding a few of the items.

While you are in New York, will you be meeting with Tyson? It's not on your schedule, but it ends at noon and I am not sure if some times were omitted. Please fill me in when possible.

Secondly, Ms. Ashton will be unable to make it due to an emergency, so Brian Walker will be joining you for the meeting. He's coming in late to this, so please take on a larger share of the duties.

Lastly, I noticed that you would be visiting the Tennessee warehouse. Could you speak to Mary Isaacs and get an update on the ISLD-83 project she is working on?

I appreciate you volunteering to go on this important trip for us, and I hope it is very successful. I look forward to hearing your report next Monday.

Helen Marks
Senior Vice President
Advanced Concepts, Inc.

Cultural Events Around Town Week of December 3–9 Various Venues

Broadview's Musical Talent	Monday 7:00 P.M.	Harrison Concert Hall
A collection of local musicians and singers make their debut in Broadview's chance to shine in the national music contest.

Heritage Collection	All week	Broadview Museum
Three different cultures are represented in this new exhibit. Daily articles like dishes, as well as larger pieces, all made by the native cultures in the area. Some pieces for sale in the museum shop.

Three Guys and a Pizza	Friday at 8:00 P.M.	Darkly Comedy Club
If you've never heard comedian Fred Stokes, you're in for a treat. Fred has been a mainstay of local comedy clubs for over 20 years. His family-friendly (mostly) set never gets old.

How Did It Come to This?	Thursday at 7:30 P.M.	Broadview Theater
Paloma University Drama Club students put on a family drama in three acts. Script adapted from award-winning playwright Diana Folds' work.

Looking for something to do tonight? How about a night of laughs?

Fred Stokes' limitless energy and fast-paced delivery earned him eight 'Funniest Person in Broadview' awards over the years. Fred's career started in the now-closed down Comedy Alley and he has opened for legends like Mark Hitchens, Taylor Short, and Diego Herrera. In the last three years, Fred has appeared on streaming video sites with his own one-hour specials "Hopeless in Love" and "How to Get Fired." Fred has a way of making even the most dreadful experiences funny, like when he lost his first job at the age of twelve. Join Fred for an all-new set of hilarious stories about romance, work, family, and sports.

I'm not sure who all these people are who voted Fred Stokes the funniest person in Broadview. I know I certainly wouldn't call him that. I went to his show on Friday night and had a few laughs, sure. His story from when he was twelve was pretty funny. And he does deliver his jokes in a deadpan, serious way which I enjoyed. But when he told about his try-out for the football team, I had to stifle a yawn. And the romantic stories about dates gone wrong — from a woman's perspective, those were too trivial. I want to hear something new about relationships, not something I can watch on any TV comedy show from 30 years ago. That's the main thing I guess: the material was just too old, too tired. And now I'm tired after an hour and a half of wanting to laugh, but not being able to.

— Lola Vance

以下の英文を 160～200 字の日本語で要約しなさい。

Every day, hundreds of people around the world have to leave their homes and look for a new, safe place to live. About half of these people are children. World Refugee^{*1} Day, on 20 June every year, is a day to support refugees, learn about and understand the problems they have, and celebrate their strength and courage.

A refugee is someone who has to leave their home country because they aren't safe there. This may be because war and violence are happening. It could also be that they are treated unfairly and cruelly because of their race, religion or political beliefs. Some people have to leave their homes because of climate change and natural disasters like droughts or floods.

When refugees leave their homes, they often have to go on very long and dangerous journeys. Some walk for many days, others travel by truck, car or boat, and many don't have enough food or water for the journey. Sadly, a lot of refugees don't reach their final destination.

When refugees arrive in a safe country, they can ask for permission to stay in the new country. People who are waiting to get permission to stay are called 'asylum seekers'^{*2}. A lot of people have to live in refugee camps while they are waiting. A camp is often like a giant city of tents, with thousands of people living in it. People can get food, clothes and medical help, and some camps even have schools. But many camps are too full, and conditions for refugees can be very bad.

The United Nations started World Refugee Day in 2001. Lots of events take place all around the world to celebrate this special day. Some cities light up their landmarks in blue to show their support for refugees. Others have concerts, art exhibitions or food festivals. In many places, there are charity walks, runs, swims and bike rides to raise money for refugees. Walking or running a long way helps us understand how far some refugees have to travel.

Many students learn about the refugee crisis at school and do special projects, for example finding out about someone famous who is or was a refugee. There are lots of different ways to get involved in World Refugee Day! What will you do?

*1 refugee = 難民

*2 asylum seekers = 亡命希望者

Aleisha Santiago (19:02): Hey, Matt. Do you have a moment to talk?

Matthew Bronson (19:03): Actually, I'm on the train right now. I can call you back in about 30 minutes.

Aleisha Santiago (19:06): No, that's OK. I just wanted to ask you if you've received confirmation of our showroom floor location at the East Metro Exhibition Hall RV Trade Show this weekend.

Matthew Bronson (19:11): Yes. I just got off the phone with one of the organizers. She confirmed that this year we'll be in Section 3A on the show floor.

Aleisha Santiago (19:15): That's great news! We'll have more space this year to showcase our newest line of RV's.

Matthew Bronson (19:20): Yeah. We'll have space to park three recreational vehicles in Section 3A which is a big improvement from the previous year's event.

Aleisha Santiago (19:26): That's for sure. We've only ever been able to bring one full-size RV before.

Matthew Bronson (19:27): Has our supervisor said which three models he'd like to show this year?

Aleisha Santiago (19:28): No, he said he'd leave it up to me. I was thinking the Westwood RV, the Integra RV, and the Holiday-Max Coach.

Study Abroad Seminar
Australia — Canada — New Zealand — UK — USA

Date: October 20, Saturday
Time: 11:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.
Venue: Lochden University Lecture Theatre

This is your chance to talk to a qualified education agent about:

- Education options
- Entry requirements
- Student visa requirements
- School and student visa application procedures

Advance registration is required. Please contact us at:

Phone: 0773-519062
E-mail: registration@studyabroadHQ.com
Web: www.studyabroadHQ.com

From: Kimberly Parker <kim.p18@fastmail.com>
To: Registrations <registration@studyabroadHQ.com>
Subject: Study Abroad Seminar inquiry
Date: Monday, October 1, 1:35 P.M.

To whom it may concern:

I received a flyer for your upcoming study abroad seminar. I am interested in attending, but I have a couple of questions that I want to clarify first.

Firstly, I am currently studying American literature at the University of Bayshore. As this event is sponsored by and taking place at Lochden University, I wanted to double check whether students from outside of Lochden can attend.

My second query is related to the timing of the event. Due to my part-time job on Saturday, I won't be able to arrive at the venue until around 5:30 P.M. Will I still be able to speak with one of the education agents at this time?

Thank you for taking the time to read my e-mail. Any information you provide me with will be much appreciated.

Kind regards,

Kimberly Parker

11. What kind of information will the agent NOT offer?

- (A) Information about how to apply
- (B) Information about schools
- (C) Scholarship information
- (D) Visa information

12. How many methods of registration are there?

- (A) 1
- (B) 2
- (C) 3
- (D) 4

13. What is the purpose of Ms. Parker's e-mail?

- (A) To enquire about the seminar
- (B) To register for the seminar
- (C) To request to speak at the seminar
- (D) To say that she cannot attend the seminar

14. Why does Ms. Parker want to attend the seminar?

- (A) To find a suitable workplace
- (B) To get information about studying abroad
- (C) To get information about working abroad
- (D) To learn about a university major

15. Where does Ms. Parker plan to be at 5:30 P.M. on October 20?

- (A) At a class room
- (B) At a lecture hall
- (C) At her job
- (D) At the City Hall

From: Charles Winslow <charlesw@sec.edu>
To: Melinda Yates <myates@edgebrook.edu>
Date: January 9
Subject: 7th Annual Science Education Conference

Dear Ms. Yates,

As a recipient of our newsletter, we thought you would be interested in our conference for science educators, coming up in two short months. This year's keynote speaker has chosen the relevant topic of collaborative learning. You won't want to miss it. There will also be various workshops led by fellow teachers. And, in the afternoon, publishers will have booths set up to introduce the latest versions of textbooks and other teaching materials. This year for the first time we will have an extra section devoted to tablet learning.

Please see our website for registration information. Groups of three or more from the same school will receive 20 percent off the entrance fee.

We look forward to seeing you at the conference.

Charles Winslow
Assistant Organizer,

Other comments:

Overall, a great conference. One thing though: my colleagues and I noticed that there were many fewer publishers this year. In fact, the publisher of the textbooks we use was not in attendance. It seemed a waste of two hours to have the booth part open. I would have liked more workshops like we had last year. The keynote speaker was great. I enjoyed talking to her just after her speech.

Traveling by submarine to view an underwater shipwreck. Trekking to the top of a distant mountain. Buckling in on a space ship. Extreme adventure tourists are always seeking the next thrill. According to Grand View Research, they were expected to spend more than $1 trillion in 2023 alone. But with extreme adventure comes extreme risk—to the tourists and, if they're not careful, to the places on which they leave their mark. Should adventure tourism be allowed? Some of our readers weigh in.

Cecilia Dietz

Extreme adventure tourism should definitely be allowed. It encourages the next generation of adventurers. It also opens more opportunities for family fun, which happens less and less these days as technology improves.

Adventure tourism also helps the environment. If people have positive experiences in places, they are more likely to want to donate. The more that people donate to natural wonders, the more that can be done about the destruction of these beauties. This means that the next generation would get to enjoy them.

Extreme tourism can be very expensive and extremely dangerous. You can see this with the OceanGate accident. The people paid so much money to be in the submarine, and they died when it imploded. The same goes for mountain tourism. It's just too dangerous, and it's not worth the risk.

Adventure tourism has a negative impact on the environment. There are environmental hazards associated with adventure-tourism activities such as kayaking, scuba diving, and rappelling. Wildlife can be harmed. Ecosystems can be destroyed because of the trash left behind by tourists. Also, when extreme tourists get injured or lost, police and rescue forces are required. These forces are needed to help regular citizens, and there's a limited amount of help they can provide. Some people might be neglected while help is provided for tourists.

People should have the right to go on an adventure. If you don't want to go, you don't have to. Adventure tourism helps clear your mind. It allows you to connect with nature and disconnect from your day-to-day work. Travel helps people broaden their point of view and see the world in a better way. It allows them to connect with people, learn new cultures, and explore geographic locations.

Adventure tourism helps people overcome their fears, feel strong, and have a sense of achievement. Adventures are fun, especially when you're with your family.
